SUMMARY

For a 1 month training in SG JoHor Taman University, things and views of mine is being changed. For the beinging of the internship for the one whole month, it just though to be a just attend and passing the time, from the time to time, it make me feels different.

A simple word "insurance", the people may think of it is a group of people that come approach us and sell us something that is not neccessary and they are a group of people that not willing to provide service after payment.

Not insurance no wanna to perform on their servicing, but the agent, the first line fighter are refusing to do so. Nothing relevant on "Insurance".

Within 1 month, gathering information, getting lesson, hearing from others which is fighting within a endless field. It make me feel change, even though it somehow doesn't shown obviously. It is different with what been taught in University.

A blind choose of internship company, but I never feel regret for it, But I Proud of my Blind Choose.

Thank you, SG Taman U
